Sandy was a dear friend and co-worker. She was such a wonderful spiritual person who cared deeply for others, even strangers. When my sister (whom Sandy had never met) was diagnosed with cancer, Sandy sent her Get Well and Thinking of You cards on a regular basis. She only signed them "A Friend ." Sandy wanted to remain anonymous. Every time my sister got one, she would be so delighted and it really brightened her day. Such a small act of kindness meant the world to her. My sister passed away a few years ago. But, now they are both in heaven and my sister can meet her earthly angel.
