“ Mitch..It was hard then..and it is hard now..we had a bond that we didn't understand..I learned that what you don't understand in life you will understand through death..although our words between us through the last very years were limited (GodsPlan) our love was pure..I remember it last year big #60 for you..I was not going to let another year especially #60 go by..I was trying to figure how to make my appearance..why not start on my birthday..so I drove by the apartment to see if your home.. no..well I said he probably at work..only if I would have look up to see all the blinds and air conditioner were gone..instead I didn't see the car..you were on my mind and heart so heavy I was so excited knowing I was about to see you..little did I know I would never see you on this earth again..those dreams I would have that I didn't communicate with you because God didn't want me to.. were not dreams at all..I got my confirmation on my birthday last year when you received your crown 👑 you found the love you oh so were searching for..Although I miss you very much..I find peace that your soul is at rest with your love..Trust..Lean not into your own understanding! Trust thy Lord with all thy heart..
