

Clarkson Davis "Buddy"

July 28, 1941 - May 11, 2011

Clarkson Davis, affectionately known as "Buddy" by family and friends, was born Monday, July 28, 1941, in Mechanicsburg, Pennsylvania, son of the late Hardy Davis and Marion Clark Davis.

Buddy received his formal education at the Scotland School for Veterans Children, Scotland, Pennsylvania. He served honorably in the United States Air Force during the Vietnam War. Later in life, he joined the American Legion, Post 733. After many years of service, Buddy retired from Caterpillar, Inc.

Buddy was a "people-person," who enjoyed life with a smile, enthusiasm and humor. He especially enjoyed cooking on the grill, "as only Buddy could do," hunting and fishing. For fifteen consecutive years, Buddy and his older brother Hardy traveled to Lake Ontario to fish. He was always very knowledgeable concerning current events and local happenings, and he never hesitated to give his opinionated point-of-view warranted or unwarranted. With a kind heart, he was always willing to help whenever and wherever needed.

On Wednesday, May 11, 2011, in the comfort of his home in Harrisburg, Pennsylvania, while surrounded by his devoted family, Buddy answered the call of his Heavenly Father peacefully entering Eternal Life.

In addition to his parents, Buddy was predeceased by his brother, Hardy

Davis III; his sisters, Doris Knight, Florence Spencer and Elizabeth Green.

Buddy leaves to cherish memories of good times, special times and even challenging times his loving and faithful wife of forty-two years, Carrie Davis; his devoted children: daughter, Karen Turner and her husband Antonio; sons, Aaron Davis and his wife Rachel and Vincent Davis. His memory will also be cherished by his sisters, Edith Dade and Marion Sellers; his brother-in-law, Maxie Green; as well as his six grandchildren, two great grandchildren, nieces, nephews, other relatives and friends.

Cemetery Details

Indiantown Gap National

Indiantown Gap Road
Anville, PA 17003