

James DeVon Davis

December 27, 1981 - November 30, 2022

James DeVon Davis, son of James Douglas Davis and Maria Angela Davis, was born Sunday, December 27, 1981, in Harrisburg, PA.

A graduate of Dauphin County Technical School, Class of 2000, James pursued higher educational endeavors taking undergraduate courses at Harrisburg Area Community College. He was employed by Dura-Bond Industries, Steelton, PA.

As a child, James attended Word Fellowship Christian Center and later attended Life Center Ministries. He enjoyed working with the youth as a basketball coach and mentor at Christ Fellowship Tabernacle.

James was a kind, loving and generous son, brother, relative and friend always happy and willing to assist whenever and wherever needed. He was always there to lend a hand or swing through and just show support. He truly enjoyed supporting his family and friends encouraging them to pursue their passions and dreams.

James was passionate when it came to the arts and entertainment. He loved and wrote music, script, acted in plays, movies, and he enjoyed photography and videography. His creative interests were ultimately incorporated in his business, Media Traffickers International, his podcast, "So What We Saying," and his ever entertaining, “JameDTV.”

James had an inquisitive mind when it came to studying history, exploring new restaurants and trying out new foods. He was a true “Sneakerhead” and loved fashion, especially his Ralph Lauren, bandanas and bowties.

On Wednesday, November 30, 2022, James transitioned from time to eternity joining his maternal grandparents, Pinchot J. and Phoebe R. Phoenix; paternal grandparents, Richard A. and Wanda M. Davis; and nephew, Eimaj L. Sanders-Davis.

James leaves to mourn his departure his parents, James and Maria Davis; his sister, Jasmyn Davis; other family members and friends who will all lovingly cherish James’ memory.

“ *My dearest Jamie, Your light, love and laughter will be cherished. I will miss your jokes, the hugs, and the “hey Fam” greeting whenever I ran into you and Jas. You always had an uncanny ability to light up a room with your smile and your perfectly curated outfits. Your kind, generous soul left a lasting impression on everyone. “ Jamie and I worked together at Styles West. He spread so much joy, hope and positivity. I loved seeing him interact with others at work, but I never saw him shine as bright as when his sister would come into the store. He taught me so many lessons in our short time. The one that resonates the most is how much he loved and appreciated his family and friends. My deepest condolences.

“ *To my childhood beloved sister/friend Maria and her daughter Jasmyn and the entire family. I send my sincere condolences. Sometimes we wonder why the the good good die young. God has a purpose for us all and Jamie answered His call. One thing that we all are sure of is that he knew and loved the Lord as his personal Saviour. So we can miss Jamie but we can rejoice and be glad knowing that he is with our Lord. I love you all, may God continue to give you the strength to get through this sorrowful time.
