

James P. Palmer Jr.

January 19, 1944 - May 7, 2012

James P. Palmer Jr., son of the late James P. Palmer Sr. and the late Helen E. Mitchell Palmer, was born Wednesday, January 19, 1944, in Harrisburg, Pennsylvania.

James graduated from Central Dauphin High School, Class of 1965; and, thereafter, served in the United States Navy. He was formerly employed by the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and Keystone Building Products of Harrisburg.

In Harrisburg, on Monday, May 7, 2012, James completed his earthly journey. Along with his parents, he was also predeceased by one brother, Jerry L. Palmer of Glendale, Arizona. Many special memories will be cherished by his devoted companion of over thirty-five years, Jacqueline Dudley; one son, Eric C. Palmer Sr.; one sister, Ruthie McCain; two brothers, Milton E. Palmer and Dale R. Palmer, all of Harrisburg; two grandchildren, Eric C. Palmer Jr. and Ashley Palmer; as well as other relatives and friends.

Tribute Wall

“ To Ruthie, Milton, Dale, and Eric: When my brother Tommy phoned and informed me of Jimmy's passing, my mind immediately went to our growing up in the Projects and the great memories of my brother Tommie and I spending time with each of you including our good friend and your brother and uncle, Jerry.

Jimmy always tried to boss us and tell us what to do like he was a general in the army. We will always be family. I regret I am on travel and cannot be with you to embrace you and tell you that we must all face death. To a Christian and God fearing person, death is only sleep because when Jesus Christ returns, He will shout and the dead in Christ will rise up, be changed, and called to meet Him in the air. I pray that Jimmy lived such a life that he will be one of those who are called to meet Him. I pray when we come to the end of our journey, we will be ready for Jesus to come.

Your brother and friend,
