“ Dad, I can't explain the pain I feel without you here. It feels like a part of me is gone with you. no matter what you struggled with I will forever remember the great memories we had together. I would give anything to hear your voice at 6am calling me telling me to wake up, let's go to breakfast. You were always there for me. whenever I needed you, you made a way. Forever in my heart, I love you dad.

As I celebrate Passover I had to say I forgive Joel for stabbing me 10 years ago and now that I see the man of faith he became and my spiritual growth from 10 years ago I'm sorry for the loss and I forgive him for that day that changed me forever and the direction that my life has gone since GOD bless you and your family I felt drawn and compelled to reach out today and I'm grateful he found GOD addiction sucks by his stripes we are healed from such bondage I pray hedge of protection over his family members and future generations to come praise GOD for your sacrifice and grace and mercy and healing AMEN

“ Dad,
We hadn't been speaking for sometime & my mom & Tia tried to tell me that I should reach out to you because tomorrow isn't promised. Just like you I was stubborn & didn't want to hear it. Now I'm only 30 years old & I have to live the rest of my life without my dad. I'm sorry I didn't listen. Thank you for being an amazing poppop to my boys. They will only have good memories of you. Without a doubt anytime I called you & needed you, you pulled right up every time! I'll miss you & all the good food you taught me how to make & I'll think about you every time I make it. Forever in our hearts. We'll meet again.

“ We got married when we were 19. We didn't know anything about married life or having kids and we butted heads, to say the least. But over the years we were able to become great friends, allowing our grandsons to bond us together even closer. I'm thankful for the memories I have of you, especially the ones of you laughing and enjoying time with your grandsons fishing, cooking, taking walks, bringing them candy and snacks from the corner store buying them anything they wanted and watching them play. The last time we talked before we hung up we ended the conversation with "I love you." Until we meet again, Just rest knowing I will always keep your memory alive with our daughters and our grandsons. Miss you.

“ I remember our fams used to chill when I was a kid. Always looked forward to those weekends. U guys and Papo were “the cool older kids”. I always thought u were so handsome. As adults things changed and everyone went their own ways to live life. I always enjoyed keeping up with u on Facebook. Took me back to my childhood. Rest easy Joey. U r with good company.

“ To my little brother, Joe I am so sorry it's to late to mend our differences, we were raised to bury our emotions in a deep dark place were light can not find, but in your passing YOUR LIGHT has shined on my dark place were I've hidden all my fears and tears and am overwhelmed with emotions and can't help but to shed a tear for you and your daughters, I can hear you now WHAT YOU CRYING FOR but I cry for you Joe, you were never afraid of anything and in some cases I wish I was more like you little brother, I will always remember the good and not the bad and will keep you in my heart till the end of days , I will love you now and always little brother, in time we will meet again, love your brother Sam ☐

“ I can't put into words what I'm feeling. You should still be with us Joe! I sit here and think of you day and night it's just hard to believe you're gone. My mind plays tricks on me sometimes I be wanting to make a call out to you and tell you who I ran into. I hated when you would call me at all hours asking where to find seasonings or what ingredients were needed to make something but how I wish I would get those calls again. Like all siblings we had our ups and downs but it was always me and you!! Save a spot for me, right beside you! Love you Joe until we see each other again I'll be missing you but your memory will forever live on.
