“ My name is Harriet Mantelmacher and I'm a retired teacher from the Harrisburg School District. It was an honor to know Mr. Gibson. He was kind, understanding and hard working. I taught special education and used a device called a language master. I recorded colors, numbers and the alphabet on the cards and my students put the card in the machine with help and repeated the words. Anyway my language master broke more than I liked and Mr. Gibson always fixed the machine with a smile. When I couldn't pick up the language master my Mommy, Hilda Mantelmacher picked up the machine and Mr. Gibson was a sweetheart to her too.
