

Roy Lee "Big Man" Palmer Sr.

February 10, 1964 - August 12, 2021

Roy Lee Palmer Sr., son of the late Roy Lee Dorsey and the late Eartha Palmer Blackmon, was born Monday, February 10, 1964, in Jacksonville, North Carolina.

Known as "Big Man" by family and friends, Roy graduated from Harrisburg High and was employed by the Public Transportation System. An accomplished chef in his own right, Roy enjoyed sports, especially football and basketball, as well as cooking and inviting you over for a plate, playing cards, bingo and, foremost, spending time with family and friends.

A warrior and a gentle giant, Roy was caring and loving to everyone. He was especially protective of his loved ones. He fought hard to continue life after the loss of his leg. He just had a zest for life, and nothing could stop him. His voice, his phone calls, and the 3:15 a.m. wake-up call to him for his dialysis appointments three times a week will all be missed.

On Thursday, August 12, 2021, at fifty-seven years of age, Roy passed from labor to reward. His legacy will be honored and cherished by his son, Roy Palmer Jr.; sisters, Eartha Wright and Marcella Blackmon; his nieces and nephews whom he called every day and beyond-a-shadow-of-a-doubt was the greatest uncle to them, Chakela Palmer, Nakisha Mickens, Melvin Jones Jr., Shaliah Hollomon, Erma Palmer, Tara McKamey, Donnesha Blackmon-

Hughes and Little Shaliah; his favorite aunt, Veronica Emory; his first cousins, Cheryl Harp, Lottie Jones, Sandra Hicks, James Emory and Lawrence Ravenell; five grandchildren, one great-grandchild, other family members and friends.

Big-Man will be missed now and forever, but he is pain free.

Lovingly Submitted, The Family
