“ Willie was my friend, closer than a brother. We met as the caveman, who I am, and who Willie was, the green apple. We both had customized vans and we shared, in our early days CB radios, and enjoyed talking on them. His handle was "green apple" and my handle was "the caveman". We would meet other vans at Reservoir Park at the flattop, and party and have fun!! It was like a big VAN club!! To cut to the chase, Willie was a good man as well as a good friend. He was an auto mechanic, not only for me but especially for my mother. She would always say "call Willie" when her car needed repair. Willie would come immediately to repair her car. Even when my van needed repair, my mother would say "call Willie" and he would come immediately, rain snow sleet or shine; Willie would never ask for one dime!!
